

For the prevention and cure of BILIOUS AND MALIGNANT FEVERS is recommended
Hahn's ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS.
THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings in several parts of the West Indies and in the Southern and Middle States, &c.

The testimony of a number of persons can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy founded on mere assertion.

It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these Pills taken once in every two weeks during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventive; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age.
They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—to restore a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance: they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficacious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

Hamilton's Elixir.
A sovereign remedy for colds, obsteinate coughs, asthmas, sore throats, catarrhs, and approaching consumptions.
To parents who have children afflicted with the HOOPING COUGH, this discovery is of the first magnitude, as it affords immediate relief, checks the progress, and in a short time entirely removes the most cruel disorders to which children are liable. The Elixir is perfectly agreeable, and the dose so small that no difficulty arises in taking it.

Hamilton's Grand Restorative.
Is recommended as an invaluable medicine for the speedy relief and permanent cure of

Nervous Disorders Violent cramps in Consumptions the stomach and Lowness of spirits back
Loss of appetite Indigestion
Impurity of blood Melancholy
Hysterical affection Gout in the stomach Inward weaknesses Pains in the limbs and debility Relaxations, etc.

Hamilton's Essence and Extract of Mustard.
A safe and effectual remedy for acute and chronic rheumatism, gout, rheumatic gout, palsy, lumbago, numbness, white swellings, chilblains, sprains, bruises, pain in the face and neck, etc. etc.

Lee's Ointment for the Itch.
Warranted an infallible remedy at one application, may be used with perfect safety by pregnant women, or on infants a week old, not containing a particle of mercury or any dangerous ingredient whatever, and not accompanied with that tormenting smart which attends the application of other remedies.

Hahn's true & genuine German Corn Plaster.

An infallible remedy for corns, speedily removing them root and branch, without giving any pain.

The Genuine Persian Lotion.
So celebrated among the fashionable throughout Europe, is an invaluable cosmetic, perfectly innocent and safe, free from corrosive and repellent minerals, the basis of other lotions, and of unparalleled efficacy in removing blemishes of the face and skin, freckles, pimples, inflammatory redness, scurfs, tetter, ringworms, scabiness, prickly heat, &c.

Hahn's genuine Eye Water.
A sovereign remedy for all diseases of the eyes, whether the effect of natural weakness or of accident.

Tooth Ache Drops.
The only remedy yet discovered which gives immediate and lasting relief in the most severe instances.

Lee's Infallible Ague and Fever Drops

intermittent fevers.

may be had gratis, describing cures performed by the above medicines; the number, importance and respectability of which, fully justify every article of this

TECHNICAL TOASTS.

Given at the anniversary celebration of the Mechanic Association in Portsmouth, N. H.

[Blacksmiths.] The Day—May the prosperity of the Society increase with each returning anniversary, and no link in the chain of our social compact feel the effects of the cold chisel. [Joiners.] The Constitution of the United States—A finished piece of workmanship, well planned and joined—confusion to the man who would attempt to hack it with the hatchet of discord.

[Printers.] The President's Tour—A good token well worked off.

[Bakers.] All Societies similar to this—A good batch well set—may it never be burnt nor slack-baked.

[Cabinet Makers.] Mechanics—May they never be cumbered with sycophancy, nor varnished with hypocrisy; a becoming self-respect is their genuine polish.

[Shoemakers.] Our country—May it wax stronger and stronger, no thread of its Union be broken, and should its liberties be hereafter attacked, "perish the man whose sole is backward."

[Tailors.] The heroes of the late War—The man who attempts to cut-bage from their well earned fame, is a backstitch in honor, or a goose in intellect.

[Coopers.] The government of the United States—Its heading has been examined and pronounced sound.

[Watchmakers.] Agriculture, commerce, and Manufactures—The main-spring of our independence—May they ever be well regulated and keep time together.

SELECTIONS

From a file of Newspapers of the last Century.

His majesty King George the Second being once on a passage to Hanover, and it being stormy and the wind increasing, one of the chaplains asked a sailor how the weather was. "Get below doctor, get below (replied the fellow) what the devil business have you here?" But pray tell me, my friend, (said the parson) is there any likelihood of our being lost? "Why, by G—d, (said the sailor) if the wind don't slacken, and that presently, we are likely to be in heaven to night." God Almighty! (answered the doctor) That gentleman is now a bishop.

After Oliver Cromwell was settled in the Protectorship, he gave orders for several pieces of ordinance to be immediately cast. It was desired to know his pleasure as to what arms should be upon them—to which he answered "the arms of the common-wealth of England?" and after a little pause, "let (says his highness) the motto be, Open thou our lips, and our mouths shall show forth thy praise." Many of these pieces were extant at the Restoration, but soon after broke down.

Some time ago a milliner's apprentice was to wait on a Duchess, but fearful of committing some error in her address, she went to consult with a friend about it, who told her that when she came before the duchess, she must say her grace to her. Accordingly away went the girl, and being introduced, after a courtesy, she said, For what we are going to receive, the Lord make us thankful! To which the duchess answered Amen.

When Graveston, who betrayed the Spaniards at Bergen-op-Zoom to Queen Elizabeth, came to England to give her an account of his success and claim a reward, the queen gave him a thousand crowns, but said to him at the same time, "Get you home, that I may know where to send when I want a thorough-faced villain."

One Brown, an Englishman, living at Barbados, had there a sugar-work and a number of negroes; and having been robbed of a large sum of money, he called all his negroes together, saying "the great Serpent just now appeared to me in private, and assured me, that he who stole my money should this instant have a parrot's feather sticking to his nose." The thief instantly put his hand to his nose. "Thou art the thief," said Brown—and by this means he recovered his property, and the negro was hanged.

SOUTH AMERICA.

That the "North American" is no less anxious than we are that the country should adopt measures bestitting an honorable and high minded people, we are not disposed to controvert, and we hope he will judge of us with the same liberality and candor, though we differ respecting the measures that would come under that description. The difference between us is, that he would take one road and we another to reach the same end. He does not deprecate war more cordially than we do; but will he say that there are no cases in which, with a view on the one hand to our own future security, and on the other to our moral duties, (which, let men think what they will, are as imperative on nations as on individuals) war ought to be met with firmness. Whether this country, in the very act of imploring and receiving from other nations the aid which enabled her to secure her independence, did or did not virtually pledge herself to stand in the same relation to others, having an equally just cause with herself, in which those beneficent nations stood to her in the hour of need, is a question respecting which we know that much may be said on both sides; but in our conscientious judgments, little ought to be said on any but one side.

While we maintain this doctrine, however, we are far from harboring in our brains or hearts that romantic spirit which turns the blind side to danger, and fixes its eye only on the possible glory of an exploit. Were our country to be endangered in its territory, in its power, in its freedom, or in the most unimportant of its political institutions—and above all, were it to put one feather of its honor in danger of being plucked, we would be among the first to cry error. For to hazard any of those in any cause foreign to ourselves is to bidden by justice and by virtue. Those who are entrusted by the community with the guardianship of their rights would be unpardonable in attempting it; but it is because our moral duties to the world are in this case enforced by manifest sound policy—because, while we assist the oppressed to break their chains, we shall strengthen the barriers of our territory, increase our power, fortify our institutions by endless bulwarks of a congenial nature, and cap the everlasting monument we have already erected to our national honor, that we are so earnest on the subject.

And first let us say that, with respect to the laws of nations, the fraudulent, cunning, mean prevarications by which the king of Spain has aggravated the various insults and outrages he has committed against this country, have, in the eyes of God and man, absolved us from all bonds of that kind—nay, the insulting tricks by which he has baffled our supplications for justice, involve in them a practical derision and contemptuous defiance more provoking than the original offences. By the due the despot robbed us of our means and violated the persons of our citizens—by the other he furnishes our national fame by disdainfully triumphing over submission. Where now are the heroes who, when Spain was leagued against the jacobin government of France, could scarcely be restrained by the wisdom and authority of Washington, and the energies of the federal government, from rushing on the Spanish colonies—not to aid the oppressed inhabitants in efforts to be free, but to reduce them to subservience to the rule of Robespierre and his followers? Are they all gone, or have they only wheeled about?

Disavowing all views of making our dealings with the revolted colonies merely subservient to our commercial or pecuniary advantage, or, in other words, of requiring bribes to stimulate our humanity or induce us to do our duty, it may not be amiss to affirm that we are bound in prudence and policy to prevent rival nations from aggrandizing themselves by accepting of those sacrifices which the colonists are willing to make—or rather those dolefuls which they are ready to give for the friendship of the more powerful governments. We put it to our fellow-citizens to anticipate in their imaginations the silly figure we shall make, the ridicule we shall undergo, the self-reproach we shall feel, if the British ministers shall be found to have forestalled, by secret negotiation, all the advantages of an exclusive commercial treaty with South America. That she will do it as soon as, by proper management of the cabinets of Europe, she can venture it without risk of a falling out with them, is certain. That she has already done much towards it, appears highly probable from the ill designed manner in which the agents of the Patriots are clandestinely accumulating in Great Britain, and drawing from that country, abundance of the sinews of war—arms, ammunition, men and officers. No man, who has informed himself of the inevitable and prompt execution of ministerial power in England, when and where it chooses to act, will hesitate to say that not twenty men could prepare to get to the Patriots from England without government being immediately apprised of it; and yet men do go, and are enlisted for the purpose in several of the seaports of England; and we hope that multitudes will be every day added to the number.

As to incurring the hazard of war, we ask with whom such an event can reasonably be expected to take place. Assuredly with none of the powers of Europe but Spain; and if we have not had provocation enough to go to war with her, we must have dismounted forever and turned to graze our war horse with a vengeance, and prepared ourselves to mount our dapple and turn our Manbrino's helmet into a repository for curds, in imitation of Sancho Panza.

Let us, for a moment, imagine the Patriots and their cause suppressed, and the despot of Spain master in full power of South America. In the course of five years his dominion would, with ordinary management, be higher and more irresistible than ever. Enriched by the mines of that country, his military and naval means will swell to a size sufficient to enable him, if not to make war with ultimate success, at least to be an everlasting serious annoyance to the United States. A large share of the population of South America will be gradually drawn in arms to those parts which lie next our frontier, and a system of vexatious hostility, worse than a bold war, will continually hang like a slow fever upon the finest parts of our country.

We shall then wish, but wish in vain, that we had acted in time. We say in vain, because if this occasion be let to pass unimproved—if the Patriots are once subdued, the cause of liberty will not for centuries be able to raise its head on that continent.

COMMERCIAL.

Extract of a letter from a respectable house in Manchester, (England) dated 19th September.

"We shall not be able to execute your orders for the spring at your limits. Bradford's (7-8 cloths for p-inter) which sold six weeks ago at 9s 6d per piece, sell readily to-day at 12s 9d.—Some goods have absolutely started 50 per cent. Our friends in Scotland inform us, that linens are not to be had, contracts having been made for four months to come.—Orleans and upland cottons are still on the advance; the former fetches 1s 10d a 2s 2d—the latter, 20d a 23d 1-2d—so that the manufacturers cannot get a profit on their goods, even at the present advance."

[Philadelphia paper.]

A Montreal list of imports shows, that during the last quarter year there were more than fifty thousand dollars, in specie, imported there from the U. States.

Bills of indictment were found by the grand jury for the district of Niagara, U. C. on the 8th ult. against James Seely and Wm. Wilson, for high treason.

We learn by a gentleman from New-Haven, (says the New London Gazette, of October 28) that a resolution passed both houses of the assembly on Monday last, inviting the government of the U. States, to establish a naval depot at N. London; and offering to cede the lands necessary for that purpose for erecting fortifications, etc.

IN THE LEGISLATURE OF RHODE ISLAND.
On Thursday last, a committee of two members from each county of the state was appointed to report a resolution, embracing in its objects the assembling of a general convention, for the purpose of framing and adopting a state constitution. Petitions for bank charters were expected fr. Gloucester, Barrville and Bristol.

MAMMOTH APPLE.

An apple was brought to this office on Monday the 20th instant, which weighed 31 ounces, and measured 16 inches in circumference. This apple grew in the orchard of David Tomlinson, Esquire, of Oxford, on a tree which had been engrafted from Long Island fruit. Its flavor was a pleasant sour, and it appeared to be a species of Greening, (so called.) There were others of nearly the same size on the tree. A young man beat the apple from the tree by throwing stones at it, in consequence of which a large piece was taken out of one side of the same, and the skin was broken by a deep bruise on one end in falling, by which it must have lost some part of its juice. If the apple had been picked from the tree without waste, we hesitate not to say it must have weighed at least thirty-three ounces or two pounds and one ounce.

[New-Haven Register.]

The Americans have a fleet in the Mediterranean. It was when the last accounts came away cruising off Leghorn. The commander was on board the Washington, an 86 gun ship with a crew of 780 men. We believe, says the Catholic official paper, it would be difficult for any one vessel in the world to take her. This is the first vessel of her class the Americans have. She bears the name of one of the greatest men that the sun ever shone upon. He found his country a provincial province of Britain, and left her—Oh, glorious destiny—an independent nation.

[Dublin Chronicle.]

From the Philad. Demo. Press.

WE have taken some pains to ascertain the precise state of the circumstances in the case of the ten British officers on Friday committed for trial, by the Judges of the circuit court now in session, and offer the following outline as one which we believe may be relied on as far as it goes. Colonel John B. Needham, captain John D. Perkins, captain J. B. Holland, captain — Parrier, lieutenant Richard Stacy, James Stacy and Charles Webster, Surgeon Robert Fry, Sergeant-major Benjamin Peckes, and Frederick Beix, said to be a Cossack nobleman, are the persons implicated in the alleged misdemeanors. The substance of the charge was that they made arrangements last summer in Brussels to combine and create a regiment of cavalry, with which to join the Patriots in South America. With this design they embarked at Antwerp on board the American ship Parnaso, and arrived at New-London a few weeks ago. From there they came to Philadelphia, and took their passages on board the brig Ellen, of this port, which vessel cleared out last week for Surinam. They were accompanied by John Williams and Peter Hogan, who were to have served in the capacity of sergeants or commissaries, and by whose information to the Spanish consul, the intended expedition was discovered and interrupted. It appeared that each man was fully provided with cavalry equipments, and there was no doubt of their intention to take a part with the Patriots in carrying on hostilities. They were regularly drilled every morning at the colonel's quarters in Philadelphia until arrested, and most, if not all of them, it was understood, had been in the British service.—One of them wore the Waterloo badge in his button hole. After a very full examination of many witnesses on both sides, the court remanded them all to prison, where they are to remain till April, (the time of their trial) unless they can give bail each one in the sum of three thousand dollars.

Adverting to the ostensible state of things in Europe, it is remarkable that British officers should have been associated in the capital of Netherlands for waging war against Spain. Either the authority or the disposition of the English and the Dutch governments, for repressing hostilities against that of Spain would seem to be somewhat questionable.

Since the above has been in type, we learn that a special court will be held in December, for the trial of the above named gentlemen.

The monument of gen. Moreau, stands on the field of battle something more than a mile from Dresden, and though extremely simple, consisting of one granite stone, is very expressive. It is surmounted with a bronze helmet, wreath and sword.—The inscription is merely—

"MOREAU DER ELDE ST. HIER AN DER SEITE ALEXANDERS."

"The Hero, MOREAU, fell here by the side of ALEXANDER."

An article dated Lausanne, Sept. 10th, mentions that 106 inhabitants of that country embarked in Holland on board a small brig for the United States, having paid part of their passage money in advance. After they had proceeded to it they found that the brig was furnished with but a very small supply of provisions and water, and she was in consequence obliged to put into Plymouth. Here the captain demanded of his passengers a further advance of money; after pretending to furnish the requisite provisions, again put to sea, and finally arrived at Lisbon, where the miserable beings were landed without any further means of prosecuting their voyage.

MISCELLANEOUS SELECTIONS

From London papers received at the office of the N. Y. Daily Advertiser.

"The singular and inexplicable case of this young lady, still occupies a large portion of public attention. To the fact we last week recorded, we are enabled to add a few others, which were witnessed by the publisher of this paper, on Tuesday last, in presence of a company which might consist of fifteen or twenty persons. It would be unnecessarily tedious to detail all that occurred at the visit, after the very ample space we allotted to the subject in our last paper. We shall therefore confine our relation to general statement of those facts which seem to have the most direct tendency to elucidate the rationale of the case. To be casual, or no skilful observer, these do not appear to be a defect in the usual organs of vision, the eyes being in all respects apparently perfect, but this would seem to be of little consequence, as she readily consents to have her eye-lids at times closed. The experiments we are about to relate, were performed with great facility, when the goggles (described in our last paper) were tied closely over her eyes; when the eye-lids were shut and gold beater's skin cemented over them; and when the goggles, or a handkerchief were tied upon the gold beater's skin.—Several pieces of colored silk were placed before her; and, passing her fingers over them, she readily told the different shades, and pointed out the patterns of various prints. A small glass vial was put into her hands, containing several pieces of silk, of different colours, and she discriminated, in like manner, the various shades through the vial. Some letters were produced, the directions of which she readily deciphered, through a piece of common window glass, placed at equal distances between the object and her face, her fingers touching the glass. With a magnifying glass, placed in the same situation, her powers of discernment appeared to be increased. She also described the features of several individuals in the company, as reflected in a looking glass placed on her knee. The faculty which, it is said, she possesses of distinguishing objects when placed behind her, was not on the present occasion, at all in operation, for whenever her attention was called to an object not placed in a direct line downwards from her face, she uniformly failed to ascertain any of its qualities; her powers seemed all gone, when any thing opaque intervened between her face and the object she endeavored to recognise.

"The case thus remains enveloped in mystery, in whatever light it is viewed. Against the theory of the touch alone being concerned, is the fact we have just stated, that, as far as our observation goes, she requires an uninterrupted communication between her face and the object examined, which could not be necessary if the ideas were conveyed to the brain, as some have supposed through the nerves of the fingers. On the other hand, we can scarcely conceive it possible that she could see through the usual channel, after the means we have described had been adopted to keep down the eye-lids. We have heard it suggested as possible, that the pupil of the eye, if the lachrymal duct were considerably enlarged, might be prevented down the nostrils, so as to afford the means of vision through this medium; but on this point we dare not undertake to offer any decided opinion; all we can venture upon is, that allowing the anatomical possibility of the fact, the phenomena we witnessed may be easily explained."

A labouring woman, at South Acree, Norfolk, after tilling some time in the field, laid herself down to rest; whilst she was sleeping, a toad fixed itself upon her breast—on her walking, she was so much frightened that she died immediately.

WILSON, THE PEDESTRIAN.

Last week, this Pedestrian, so well known at Blackheath, arrived in this town, for the purpose of performing the walk of 1000 miles in 13 working days. He commenced on Monday morning last, at the Bowling Green, Scotland road, and proceeded until yesterday with great spirit, notwithstanding many interruptions, from some of the populace endeavoring to see him without paying for admission to the ground. These interruptions, however, had the effect, yesterday, of suspending his exertions for some time, and whether he resumed them or not in the course of the evening, we have not yet heard. He was anxious to obtain some protection from the police.

EXTREME DISTRESS PRODUCING DEATH.

A poor woman who lately went to reside in a village near Spalding, Lincolnshire, and whose husband had abandoned, was totally destitute of food for herself and three children. In this distress, she went to a neighbor's house, and returned with a bucket full of grains, used in feeding swine. These she placed upon the floor of her cottage as food for her famishing babes, and rushing out of doors went and hanged herself, and was not discovered till she was quite dead.

A great improvement has taken place in gas lights by the introduction of pipes of sheet ware, which are only a fifth of the expense of iron, and actually more durable.

The same vessel, the Cassir, which brought home the account of the late conversation, brought also an answer by Bonaparte to the book published by Mr. Warden, which he had read with strong feelings of indignation. This answer will speedily be published, and as it serves to throw light on some of the most important transactions in history, we need hardly say that its appearance cannot fail to be anxiously expected by the public.

Report Courteous.—When the British under lord Nelson, were bearing down to attack the combined fleet of Trafalgar the first lieutenant of the Revenge, on going to see that all hands were at their quarters, observing one of the men devoutly kneeling at the side of his gun: so very unusual an attitude in an English sailor exciting his surprise and curiosity, he went and asked the man if he was afraid? "Afraid?" answered the honest tar with a countenance expressive of the utmost disdain: "No!" I was only praying that the enemy's shot may be distributed in the same proportion as the prize-money—the greatest part among the officers."

On Saturday last, about one o'clock, as two gentlemen were walking between Granton and Caroline Park, near Edinburgh, they perceived a boy on a rock, surrounded by the tide, which was rising rapidly. The poor boy, seeing his danger, called loudly for help; and the gentlemen desired some masons, who were working near the spot, to go to Granton for a horse. Luckily there was a man not far off with a horse and cart, and whom they applied, but the fellow had the humanity to refuse. "It was no however, a time for ceremony; the horse was, therefore, taken from the cart without the owner's permission, and one of the masons having mounted it, relieve the boy from his perilous situation. The result afforded a reproof to the cart more keen than any language of reproof or indignation could have conveyed.—The boy, for whose rescue from death he refused the use of his horse, proved to his own son. Such was the rapidity of the tide, that one of the gentlemen, who had been proceeding towards the rock while the masons were in search of horse, was also surrounded by the tide and got out with considerable difficulty.

A whimsical circumstance, but which might have been attended with unpleasant consequences, occurred to the son of Brighton a few days ago.—A gentleman as a strong, spirited horse, passed pedestrian on the slope of the Downs nearly full speed. The horse had formerly been a charger in the 10th Royal H. zars, and the pedestrian who had known him when attached to that regiment instantly recognised him. In a loud authoritative tone, therefore, as he decried by him he overtook the commanding term "halt!" It was a mane the animal had been trained in obedience to and he had not forgotten it. check it produced was as sudden as a clout, and the rider, completely unprepared for such a shock, was thrown over horse's head, and alighted on his some yards in advance. Happily he received no hurt of consequence. Some time elapsed, however, before he sufficiently recovered to know perils which had happened to him, and did which, the arch commander had considered prudent to disappear.

"BLACK EYED SUSAN."

Gay wrote this well known ballad upon Mrs. Montford, a celebrated actress contemporary with Cibber. After her retirement from the stage, and the ingratitude of a brutal friend, appeared her of her senses at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, with 20 passengers.

Lord Ellenborough was at Paris, Sept. 25. It is said that the object of his visit is to visit the insane hospitals for the purpose of obtaining information that might enable him to introduce improvements into like institutions in England.

Prince Paul of Wurtemberg has arrived at Paris, and hired the hotel of Marshal Davoust.

The French general Rigaud is about to embark for America.

The Austrian archduchess Leopoldine embarked at Leghorn on board the Portuguese squadron, to proceed to the Brazils, to join her intended husband the prince royal of Portugal, on the 14th August. Soon after the fleet sailed, she encountered a violent storm, and was obliged to put into Cagliari, where the archduchess disembarked. The fleet was obliged to send to Genoa and Leghorn for a new supply of provisions.

Paris, Sept. 19.

The sieur Pierre Hamel has been condemned to death for having slain the lover of his married daughter, surprised by him in flagrante delicto. The lady holds a husband guilty, who, under such circumstances, commits a homicide.

Stockholm, Sept. 9.

The creation of a respectable navy is an object of particular attention of our government—A 74, called the King Charles XIII, just launched at Carlscrona is considered one of the finest vessels in the navy.

The same vessel, the Caesar, which brought home the account of the late conversation, brought also an answer by Bompante to the book published by Mr. Warden, which he had read with strong feelings of indignation. This answer will speedily be published, and as it serves to throw light on some of the most important transactions in history, we need hardly say that its appearance cannot fail to be anxiously expected by the public.

Retort Courteous.—When the British under Lord Nelson, were bearing down to attack the combined fleet of Trafalgar, the first lieutenant of the Revenge, on going to see that all hands were at their quarters, observing one of the men devoutly kneeling at the side of his gun: so very unusual an attitude in an English sailor exciting his surprise and curiosity, he went and asked the man if he was afraid? "Afraid?" answered the honest fellow with a countenance expressive of the utmost disdain: "No!" I was only praying that the enemy's shot may be distributed in the same proportion as the prize money—the greatest part among the officers.

On Saturday last, about one o'clock, as two gentlemen were walking between Granton and Caroline Park, near Edinburgh, they perceived a boy on a rock, surrounded by the tide, which was rising rapidly. The poor boy, seeing his danger, called loudly for help; and the gentlemen desired some masons, who were working near the spot, to go to Granton for a horse. Luckily there was a man not far off with a horse and cart, and to whom they applied, but the fellow had the inhumanity to refuse. It was not, however, a time for ceremony; the horse was, therefore, taken from the cart with the owner's permission, and one of the masons having mounted it, relieved the boy from his perilous situation. The result afforded a reproof to the carter more keen than any language of reproach or rebuke could have conveyed—the boy, for whose rescue from death he had refused the use of his horse, proved to be his own son. Such was the rapidity of the tide, that one of the gentlemen, who had been proceeding towards the rock while the masons were in search of a horse, was also surrounded by the tide, and got out with considerable difficulty.

A whimsical circumstance, but which might have been attended with unpleasant consequences, occurred to the north of Brighton a few days ago:—A gentleman as a strong, spirited horse, passed a pedestrian on the slope of the Downs at nearly full speed. The horse had formerly been a charger in the 10th Royal Hussars, and the pedestrian who had known him when attached to that regiment, instantly recognized him. In a loud and authoritative tone, therefore, as he dashed by him he vociferated the commanding term—halt! It was a mandate the animal had been trained in obedience to and he had not forgotten it. The check it produced was as sudden as effectual, and the rider, completely unprepared for such a shock, was thrown over the horse's head, and alighted on his back some yards in advance. Happily he received no hurt of consequence. Some time elapsed, however, before he was sufficiently recovered to know perfectly what had happened to him, and during which, the arch commander had considered it prudent to disappear.

"BLACK EYED SUSAN."

Gay wrote this well known ballad upon Mrs. Montford, a celebrated actress contemporary with Cibber. After her retirement from the stage, and the ingratitude of a bosom friend, departed her of her senses, and she was placed in a receptacle for lunatics. One day, during a lucid interval, she asked her attendant what play was to be performed that evening, and was told that it was Hamlet. In this tragedy, whilst on the stage, she had ever been received with rapture in Ophelia. The recollection struck her, and with that cunning, which is so often allied to insanity, she eluded the care of the keepers, and got to the theatre, where she concealed herself until the scene in which Ophelia enters in her insane state; she then pushed on the stage before the lady who had performed the previous part of the character could come on, and exhibited a more perfect representation of madness than the utmost exertions of the mimic art could effect. She was in truth Ophelia herself, to the amazement of the performers, and the astonishment of the audience. Nature having made this last effort, her vital powers failed her. On going off, she exclaimed, "It is all over!" She was immediately conveyed back to her late place of security, and a few days after.

She, like a lily drooping,
Then bowed her head, and died."

Notice

To the Creditors of the Family of Geo. Cantan, deceased.

Gentlemen,

It has become expedient for me to solicit of you further time in which I may discharge the balances yet due to you; and meanwhile that you would forbear to institute suits. Such indulgence, if on grant it, will facilitate and hasten the voluntary discharge of debts, which before I assumed them, you are sensible that I could not have been legally compelled to pay. For inducement to such lenity, permit me to point out the fund whence your claims shall be acquitted, and also the time when. The time, if you consent to forbear the institution of suits, (which imply delay and unnecessary costs) shall not exceed six months from this date. The fund accrues from the result of the final decree rendered in Nov. 1816, in the case of Carter and others against Cutting and others, by the operation of which more than fifty thousand dollars, principal and interest and costs, have been adjudged due to this family. My undisputed and indisputable interest in a portion of this fund, is adequate, and shall by me be applied to satisfy all your demands upon this family. The original amount of those demands you know that I have diminished by repeated payments heretofore made; and recently, by an assignment of three years' rents of the Parke Estate; and finally, by the absolute sale of my own slaves to exonerate those of mine, that otherwise could not have been delivered to the young owners. Moreover, in proof of my zeal to obtain proper means for the extinction of your just demands against the family of my adoption, I can, without ostentation, refer you to the unwearied toil and prudence of my general proceedings, which indeed have not been relaxed during the past ten years. Not one of you, I think, will deny, that my course has been marked by an inflexible adherence to justice, self-denial, industry and frugality—honorable qualities (it is true) and often neglected by lolly people; yet, nevertheless, which persons, in circumstances of mediocrity, appreciate on account of their moral utility; qualities, that for such as exercise them, ensure ultimate felicity to engagements, and which are peculiarly estimable in correct debtors, because they both cherish the ability and evince the resolution to satisfy their just creditors.

Land for Sale.

IF early application is made, I will dispose of 400 acres of the CEDAR GROVE tract of land. There is surplus timber and fire wood enough on the part I purpose selling to pay, with judicious management, more than half the purchase money, at the price I ask. The situation is healthy, and the land fertile. Contiguity to market is also among its advantages; it being within less than a mile of Mr. Jonathan Janney's mill, where the Alexandria prices may be had for grain. Persons wishing to purchase will apply to the subscriber, residing at Cedar Grove, ten miles below Alexandria, and one below Janney's mill.

EDGAR MCARTY.

A valuable Farm for Sale.

THE SUBSCRIBER will sell, on reasonable terms, a valuable and productive farm of 600 acres, or thereabouts—being part of the lands of the late Richard Brent, lying on Kettle Run in the county of Prince William, in the state of Virginia—30 miles from the Occoquan Mills—35 miles from Alexandria, and about the same distance from Georgetown and the City of Washington. This farm lies in the centre of an excellent neighborhood—is handsomely situated—abundantly watered, and has upon it an ample proportion of wood. The soil is naturally strong, and a considerable portion of it has for some years past been cultivated according to the most approved rules of modern husbandry. Possession will be given on the first day of January next. The terms upon which this property will be sold, will be made known upon application to George L. Brent, of Stafford County, Va. or to the subscriber living in Alexandria.

Rich Kenhawa Lands for Sale or Barter.

I WILL sell or exchange, for property in this district or its vicinity, a valuable tract of land in Mason county, Virginia, situate on the Great Kenhawa River, at the mouth of Eighteen Mile Creek, distant from Point Pleasant about eighteen miles. This tract binds upon the river, and contains by patent one thousand and fifty acres, a large proportion of which is rich bottom. The title is old, and indisputable, having been located and surveyed by Gen. Washington before the Revolution. What may be considered as adding much to its value is the passage of the western road through it. By a reference to Mr. Madison's map of Virginia, the situation of the land may be designated. Apply to Colonel Francis Peyton, or

ANN-ELIZA PEYTON.

Land for Sale.

THE Subscriber offers for sale, about 2000 acres of land in Fairfax county, not more than from seven to nine miles from Alexandria. The property is well watered, has a sufficiency of wood, and (judging from the condition of small and well cultivated farms that adjoin it) it is highly susceptible of improvement. It is at present divided into tracts of from one to two hundred acres, each provided with a dwelling house, out houses, a garden or orchard; and might, of course, be laid out into four or five very compact farms. The principal object of the subscriber, being the introduction of a good system of husbandry into his neighbourhood, he will sell on very moderate terms, give a long credit on the whole amount of the purchase money, and require no other interest, than what the present rent of the land pays, being about 5 per cent. on its estimated value.

Twenty Dollars Reward.

RAN AWAY from William Galt, near Fredericktown, on the Lancaster road, in April last, a Negro Woman, named JULIET, about 30 years of age, 5 feet high, has lost several of her upper front teeth, speaks quick & sharp—she was sold by a Mr. Darby, of Anne-Arundel county, to some Georgia traders whom she left near Richmond, Va. and was lodged in Fredericktown jail from whence she was sold for her jail fees, & purchased by John P. Thompson, and by him sold to William Galt. It is supposed she is now lurking about the district of Columbia or its vicinity. The above reward will be paid for apprehending and securing her so that I get her.

JAMES GALT.

Alexandria, Oct. 6

N. B. Masters of vessels and others are forewarned against carrying off said runaway.

Fifty Dollars Reward.

RAN AWAY, on Saturday evening, the 11th inst. my mulatto man, named NED, commonly called Nax McRae alias Sawinwe. He is about 23 or 24 years of age, 5 feet 8 or 9 inches high, and was raised in Manchester. Ned is well made, high forehead and large flat nose; had on when he went away a grey coat and pantaloons, but as he was well provided with clothing of various kinds, it is probable he may have changed his dress. It is believed he went off with his wife, who it appears left Richmond at the same time; she is very black, and I believe, somewhat pitted with the small pox, talks a great deal, of short stature, and rather thick made. Ned is very artful, and may probably attempt to pass for a free man; he has a down look when spoken to. The above reward will be given if taken out of Richmond or Manchester, and twenty-five dollars if taken in either place, and all reasonable expenses paid for delivering him to the subscriber.

DAVID BARCLAY.

N. B. Masters of vessels and others, are cautioned against harboring, employing or carrying off said fellow, under penalty of the law.

BOOKSELLERS,

King-street, ALEXANDRIA,

RESPECTFULLY inform the public that they have just received from Lee's Medicine Store,

No. 46, Maiden lane, New-York, a fresh supply of the following valuable MEDICINES:

Hamilton's Worm-destroying Lozenges.

Which have within sixteen years past cured an immense number of persons of both sexes of every age and in every situation, of various dangerous complaints arising from WORMS, and from obstructions or foulness in the stomach and bowels.

This medicine bears no analogy whatever to others of similar titles so commonly complained of as operating with violence; on the contrary a particular excellence of this remedy is its being suited to every age and constitution. It contains nothing but what is perfectly innocent & is so mild in its operation that it cannot injure the most delicate pregnant lady or the tenderest infant of a week old should no worms exist in the body; but will without pain or gripping cleanse the stomach and bowels of whatever is foul or offensive, and thereby prevent the production of worms and many fatal disorders. The lozenges are particularly efficacious in carrying off all gross humors and eruptions, feverish and bilious complaints, and are the safest and mildest purgative that can be used on any occasion.

Description of Worms, and the symptoms by which they are known.

Worms which infest the human body are chiefly of four kinds viz.—The Terebra or large round worm; the Cucurbitina or short flat white worm; and lastly, the Tenuis or tape-worm, so called from its resemblance to tape. This is often many yards long and is full of joints. It is most hurtful and most difficult to remove.

Among the symptoms attending worms are—disagreeable breath, especially in the morning; bad and corrupted gums; itching in the nose, and about the seat; convulsions, epileptic fits, and sometimes privation of speech; starting and grinding of the teeth in sleep; irregular appetite, sometimes loathing food and sometimes voracious; purging with slimy and fetid stools; vomiting; large and hard belly; pains and sickness at the stomach; pains in the head and thighs and looseness of spirits; slow fever with small and irregular pulse; a dry cough; excessive thirst; sometimes pale and unhealthy countenance and sometimes the face bloated and flushed.

Persons afflicted with any of the above symptoms should have immediate recourse to Hamilton's Worm Destroying Lozenges, which have been constantly attended with success in all complaints similar to those above described.

A dose of this medicine given occasionally during the warm season, will effectually prevent the vomiting and purging of children—a dreadful disorder, which annually destroys thousands of the infant part of our citizens. It is likewise the mildest and most certain remedy known, and has restored to health and strength a great number when in an advanced stage of this fatal complaint. Particular and plain instructions are given for every part of the necessary treatment in such cases.

Children generally take this medicine with eagerness; having a pleasing appearance, and an agreeable taste.

The Restorative Powder for the Teeth and Gums.

For the prevention and cure of BILIOUS and MALIGNANT FEVERS is recommended

Hahn's ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings in several parts of the West Indies and in the Southern and Middle States, &c.

The testimony of a number of persons can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy founded on mere assertion.

It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these Pills taken once in every two weeks during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventive; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age. They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—to restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance: they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficacious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.
